Subject: June 2025 Update - Channel Enhancement Project

June 2025

The public comment period on the draft Terms of Reference for the Port of Brisbane's proposed Channel Enhancement Project's Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) has now closed.

The Queensland Coordinator-General is currently considering all submissions received during the public comment period.

A single, comprehensive EIS for the Project will be prepared to address both State and Commonwealth Government requirements prior to an approval decision.

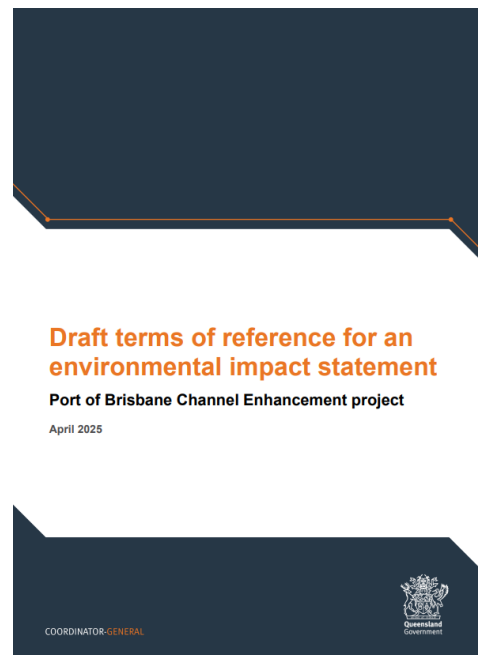

The draft EIS prepared for the Project must adequately address the terms of reference finalised by the Coordinator-General.

The EIS will include studies covering all aspects of the project including program of works, material placement, natural environment, coastal processes, cultural heritage matters, social and economic development, and project funding.

Once accepted as being adequate, the draft EIS will be released for public consultation, and publicly available over the life of the project, via the Queensland Government's website with any submissions to be made to the Coordinator-General.

Project Background

The Port of Brisbane's Channel Enhancement Project is a proposed 25-year investment aimed at preparing the Port for future trade requirements and in response to continuing population growth in South East Queensland.

The Channel Enhancement Project aims to improve efficiency of the shipping channel servicing the port, reduces vessel emissions, and caters for the future needs of the global shipping market.

Information about the proposed Channel Enhancement Project including fact sheets and updates are available on Port of Brisbane's major project page at www.portbris.com.au.
